Queer Bribery Rumors-Japanese Sending More Troops-Jubilee Lunchcon in Paris.

Special Cable Despatches to THE SUN PERIN. March 14 .- Alarmed by the report that a rebel army under Gen. Sheng Yuan, bent on the restoration of the monarchy, was marching upon Pekin from the provinces of Kan-su and Shen-si. President Yuan Snih Kai despatched practically the entire Third Division of the republican army to-day to intercept the terrorists. A battle, which may decide the fate of the republic, is expected within a few days.

Yuan's position to-day was most critical. He was forced to depend chiefly upon Manchu troops to maintain order in Pekin, and grave fears were expressed that these soldiers would turn against the Government at the first sign of success by the invading army. It was learned to-day that the younger Manchu Princes who abdicated under protest, have turned over the greater part of their private fortunes to Tatar chieftains who are stirring up revolts in the north and

The Kan-su and Shen-si troops, under command of Gen. Sheng Yuan, are well equipped. Their numbers are being constantly augmented by bandits who are eager for the rich loot which Sheng has promised them. Another re port to-day says that fighting has been going on at Swa-tow for three days between rival detachments of troops. A column of sixty men belonging to the garrison at Swa-tow has been annihilated by troops coming from Wai-chow. Interested persons are attempting to bring about a compromise between the troops Nothing has been received which would ndicate what the fighting is about.

A report was current here this evening that President Yuan had asked Gen. Li Yuan Hung, vice-president of the repubic, to head a large detachment of troops from Wu-chang and Hankow to assist in protecting the capital.

A despatch from Shanghai late to-day says that rumors are heard there that President Yuan paid Dr. Sun Yat Sen nore than $1,500,000 to withdraw from tate an agreement. the provisional Presidency. Republicans deny the report. They say that Dr. Sun has big financial backing and would not be influenced by such a proposal.

The conference committee of the anthracite mine workers which is to meet the operators' committee of ten to-day in what may be the final conference unless either side recedes from its position spent most of yesterday in preparing ar answer to the reply of the operators refusing their demands. President John T. White of the United Mine Workers of America, who is the spokesman for the mine workers, said that no counter proposition would be made. They will stand or fall by their demands.

"It is up to the operators to make a counter proposition," he said, "and unless before midnight of March 31 the operators present such a proposition acceptable to us work will suspend at once in the anthra-cite collieries. Not a man will work unless there is an agreement, and the country is now face to face with the greatest coal WILL YIELD NOTHING strike in its history.

"Our answer to the reply of the miners will take up each point as the operators took up each of our demands and will be made public as soon as it is submitted to the operators. We will give the reasons for making each demand. Our committee found nothing in the documents presented to us by the committee of operators but praise and defence of the award made ten years ago by the strike commission appointed by President Roosevelt. We nave decided to stand by our demands and it will be for the operators to say whether there will be a strike or not.' White said that so far as the anthracite miners were concerned the strike was as good as ordered. He also said there was a possibility that a strike of the bituminous miners might be avoided. He would know better after the conference between the representatives of the bituminous operators and miners on March 20 in Cleveland.

At a recent convention of the union a policy committee, representing the miners, anthracite and bituminous, in eight States, was appointed with full power to say what the policy of the mine workers will be in declaring strikes. This committee will meet on March 25 in Cleveland to act on the results of the bituminous and anthracite conferences. No referendum vote is necessary to call a strike. The scale committee has that power already. The scale committee consists of the president of the union and the three anthracite districts with the secretaries and other officers of the districts and is virtually the present conference committee.

The members of the committee hold that if the contention of the operators that the mine workers were benefitted to the extent of $30,000,000 by the sliding scale, is true, it also is true that the operators benefitted to the extent of $120,000,000 by the increases. At a recent convention of the union a

According to N. J. Terry, a national board member of the mine workers who has made a canvass of the different coal depots of the companies said that the quantity of anthracite on hand is comparatively small. He gave some figures on the subject.

On behalf of the anthracite operators committee of ten this statement was given out last evening:

Reports from the local officials of the principal mining companies in the anthraite region are to the effect that no general dissatisfaction exists among the body mine workers. Only a small proportion of them are members of the United Mine Workers of America, and the information gathered by foremen and other reprethan 4,000,000 people. that the Pennsylvania Department Mines has now gathered sufficient data born, where the disturbance has been to estimate the working days in 1911 at This is an increase of 45 per cent the average from 1897 to 1901 that last year the mine workers had the to-day Herr Delbrück, the Minister of the opportunity to increase their total ings to that extent over the 1897-1901 mediation in the coal strike. The Govperiod, entirely aside from the advances in rates of wages and the benefits from ernment, he declared, was willing to he sliding scale

It is admitted by operators that ever with the men poorly organized a strike order would be generally obeyed. The anthracite miners were not well organ-ized just before the strike of 190?.

President White of the mine workers said last evening that he had received a telegram from W. A. Lathrop, general manager of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, saying the union miners of the company were on strike in three collieries near Coaldale, Pa., refusing to work with the non-union miners. He work with the non-union miners. He asked White to order the strikers back to work, pointing out that the agreement does not expire until March 31 and 3,000 men may be made idle by this strike. White intimated that the strikers would be ordered back, but was doubtful of the the figures as to the number of men af-fected.

Some operators think that the mine workers would be more likely to strike for the advance in wages than the recog-nition of the union the check off system. For that reason the operators may try King George and Queen Mary held their

for that reason the operators may try

An explanatory statement was made last evening by a representative of the anthracite operators as to the sliding scale under which President White of the United Mine Workers is quoted as saying:
"The miners only get I cent out of every." "The miners only get I cent out of every 5 cents in the price of coal above $4.50 a ton" and that "the operators get at least 4 cents to our I cent." The statement

"In the first place Mr. White stated the operation of the sliding scale incorrectly. It is not 1 cent, as he says, but 1 per cent, that is added to the mine workers' pay." Continuing the statement says that since the labor cost of producing a ton of anthracite is $1.50 the 1 per cent. on the advance in the mine workers' pay means 1½ cents. This is paid on the whole proposition, and instead of being a small fraction of what the operator gets it is

Several collieries are idle through the determination of union miners that they will not work until all their fellow minere became members of the union and pay heir dues.

The operators do not believe this is the real cause of the trouble and say that the strike is a scheme among Socialist leaders of the United Mine Workers to restrict the output of coal so that the bins will be empty on April 1 when the agreement in This Market. C. J. Wittenberg, president of the Poca-hontas and New River Coal Company of West Virginia, said yesterday that re-ports that the strike of the miners in England was nearing a settlement had the effect yesterday of arresting the up-ward tendency in prices for soft coal.

The prices did not recede, however.

Mr. Wittenberg said that while the strike in England had some effect in raising prices here, the amount contracted for by English consigness was tracted for by English consignees was insignificant compared to what England produces. He said that all the coal contracted for here since the strike by English firms would not amount to 250,000 tons, while in normal time England exports 5,000,000 tons of coal a month. There was little reason logically speaking, he said, therefore, why the English strike should affect the coal supply here.

ITALY'S POPULAR KING.

Able, Zealous and Patriotic Monarch -Victor Emmanuel Booms New Italy.

When Victor Emmanuel III. ascended he throne of Italy after the assassination of his father, King Humbert I., in 1900 as a little and effeminate prince without ability or ambition he astonished his own country by proving to be a sovereign of resolution, intelligence and zeal. He is now regarded as one of the ablest rulers in Europe, and probably there is none more beloved by his people.

The King was born on November 11. 1869. He was married on October 24. 1896, to the Princess Elena, daughter of King, then Prince, Nicholas of Montenegro. She is nearly 6 feet tall, Victor Emmanuel is 5 feet 3 inches. They have four children, the Princess Yolanda, born in 1901; the Princess Mafalda, in 1902; Prince Humbert, the heir apparent, in 1904, and the Princess Giovanna, in 1906. At the time of his father's assassinatheir ends., The pontiff said he believed tened to Monza and conducted with firmness and tact the preparation for King Humbert's funeral and his own accession was to stroll, like Haroun al Raschid in the incognito, but he abandoned this practice were too great. He drives and rides about the cities and the rural districts of his kingdom, however, day in and day out practically unguarded.

The King has been an eager worker for the "New Italy" and his following is so enthusiastic that the influence of the court is now said to outweigh that of the Vatican in Rome. The cause of the restoration of the temporal power of the Pope has suffered throughout Italy since Victor came to the throne. The King has also belied the prophecies made before he ascended the throne concerning his attitude toward the constitution. cause he was a soldier, imbued with the old Piedmontese ideas of discipline wounds. He was in a complete state of it was predicted that he would rebel and would gradually encroach on the hind the police when he heard the cries rights of the people and the legislature of the people in the street who were dehas been called almost socialistic in his views of some national problems.

One of the King's accomplishments is knowing how to talk in public. His first address from the throne was surtactfulness and incisiveness. When has been suggested that perhaps they are written for him the reply is, "How nite bomb. Failing in that he procured is it that the genius who wrote them re nained unknown until the accessio of King Victor Emmanuel?" In times of great calamities, the King sports.

There have been several previous attempts to kill the King. On June 25, 1906, two hombs were found that had been hidden in a well to wreck the royal train on its return from Aucona. In May, 1907, a bomb was exploded near the railroad tracks four minutes before Victor Emanuel's train an exacted the spot on his way to Venice. The train unexpectedly stopped about a mile away and many believed that the police had learned of the plot and flagged it. There was talk of a plot in 1910, when anarchists from several parts of the world gathered in Italy, but an extra guard averted whatever mischief was on foot.

There have been a number of attempts at royal assassination in Europe in recent years. The last one that succeeded was the murder of King Carlos and the Crown Prince Luiz Felipe at Lisbon on February 1, 1908. They were attacked by conspirators armed with carbines and pistols while riding in a carriage with the Queen and the Infante Manuel. Manuel, who thus became King and was dethroned, was slightly wounded. The King and Queen of Spain had a narrow escape on their wedding day and there have been other plots to kill Alfonso. In 1903 King Alexander and Queen Draga of Servia of the expressions of sympathy which flooded in from every part of the world. The Government announced the death of King Humbert on July 30, 1900, in the name of King Victor Emmanuel III.. and a squadron of warships went out to meet the new ruler, who had been cruising in the Mediterranean.

The new King, after receiving the Ministers of the Government for a few moments in Rome, hurried off to Monza, where the Dowager Queen threw herself sobbing into her son's arms. Upon entering the death room Victor Emmanuel knelt and kissed his father and remained in prayer for half an hour.
